Sagittarius Dominant: Strong Sagittarius individuals are optimistic, growth-oriented people, but are prone to pre-judgement about situations and are generally not good at listening, and assuming that you know better than others. In your case this affects your ability to assess information, as you generally extrapolate far and beyond the information that is presented in front of you – in other words your objectivity is affected by your pre-judgement and ‘I know what this is about’ attitude. There is also a strong need to get away from your roots and culture in a bid to define yourself on your own terms, but often you have not defined the final destination and so can waste resources trying to ‘find yourself’.

Psych. Aspect	Interpretation
Moon-Ura	Emotionally independent, you may not fit naturally into traditional roles. There may also be a tendency to oscillate between sociable and friendly, to aloof and unavailable. Because you prefer to rebel against tradition, you may spurn routine, preferring unpredictability, and as a parent you believe in a freer childhood for your kids. In extreme cases you may be seen as irresponsible by some people. You may treat friends and work mates like family, more than you do your real family.
Sun-Nep	Self-confidence may be challenged as you are never really sure who you are. Because you aren't sure of your capabilities, it can be hard to sustain discipline. Confronting realities of life is not easy for you, and often you prefer to escape into a dream / illusion / self-deception. You may experience men in your life as being weak in some way. The key to handling this is to accept personal responsibility for your evasive tendencies, and avoid blaming others / playing the victim.
Mars-Sat	You may oscillate between periods of aggression and apathy. This means you are often frustrated since you end up in positions where you are putting in huge amounts of effort without much result. The situation is aggravated when you observe others who work much less hard than you move forward much more easily. You may have experienced male figures (such as father) in your life work very hard, but be ultimately ineffective at finding success, and had discovered that you were better off doing the work yourself than depending on them. Be careful that you do not project this onto all the men in your life, for your behavior can be very emasculating and create tensions in relationships.
Mer-Ura	Your thinking is ahead of your time, independent and progressive. You speak with honesty, which may not always go well with others. You don't easily accept rules and will need to fully accept ideas before you are willing to be cooperative, because you can't stand being fake. You are easily bored, and may easily adopt a provocative way of communication to instigate public thought rather than expressing what you truly think.

Sun-Jup	Enthusiastic and optimistic, you over-indulgences can go overboard, living for the moment without regard for consequences. The luck you enjoy won't last forever. Your cheerful outlook and resourcefulness can help you win people over. You might be self-righteous and dogmatic though this can be useful if you teach. You're not immune to depression, which can hit you badly because you're not used to the lows! While you quest for knowledge typically provides you with a vast reservoir of know-hows to draw from, beware that your know-it-all attitude doesn't stop you from recognizing that others have valuable lessons to teach you too.
